Duff Is Winner In State Battle With Shroyer

Margin In Primary

OTHER PRIMARY RESULTS IN STATE

By JOHN PAGET
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Organization candidates swept aside insurgent opposition in the Republican primary election and today continued to pile up overwhelming majorities in statewide balloting.

State GOP Chairman M. Harvey Taylor hailed the support of the party's regularly-endorsed candidates and declared the apparent victory at the polls heralded defeat for Democratic statewide candidates in the general election November 5.

The Democratic party's little ticket was nominated with little difficulty.

No Statement By Shroyer

John U. Shroyer, insurgent Republican gubernatorial candidate trailing in late returns, would issue no statement at Harrisburg conceding the election to Attorney General James H. Duff who carried the organization's endorsement.

"There will be no statement of any kind," a spokesman asserted.

Duff rolled up a better than four to one majority over Shroyer with all but 1063 of the state's 8283 precincts reported unofficially.

Duff polled 656,797 votes, and Shroyer 163,431.

In Philadelphia, the attorney general received 239,847 votes to 18,451 for Shroyer. Gov. Edward Martin, apparently coasting to victory throughout the state, defeated Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, of Pittsburgh, his opponent for the U. S. senatorial nomination 254,166 votes to 13,397 in Philadelphia.

Guffey Renominated

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, corralled 62,648 ballots in his unopposed bid for renomination on the Democratic ticket.

In Allegheny County, 990 out of 1027 precincts gave Duff 78,103 votes and Shroyer 11,134.

Other GOP statewide candidates registered pluralities reflecting Duff's majorities.

PA NEW OBSERVES

A quick glance about the city reveals much work is being done on many residences and business establishments such as installation of new fronts, new sidewalks and the construction of new garages.

Temperatures near the freezing point were reported in some sections of the county this morning, the official mark being 40 degrees. However a bright sun came out this morning, indicating a clear warm day, and it looks as though a change for the better in weather conditions will result.

On Raymond street at the residence of William Gilbert and family, two large snowball bushes, about eight feet high, are in full bloom, and present a pretty sight. The bushes are on either side of the house entrance.

Yesterday's light vote at the primaries was quite in contrast to what is expected at the November election and balloting will probably be exceptionally strong. There were few contests at the primaries yesterday and many of the voters stayed away from the polls.

Peace For Europe Before Next Winter United States Aim

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—The United States today was committed to an all-out battle to bring peace to Europe before the coming winter.

Sources close to Secretary of State James F. Byrnes placed this interpretation on his radio report to the nation on the ill-fated Paris meeting of the "big four" foreign ministers.

A survey of responsible state department officials confirmed this view.

Byrnes was known to feel thwarted by the fact that the Russians probably will never hear nor read his statement. But, it is also known that

McCullough And Brice Nominees

Win Republican Nominations For General Assembly In Tuesday Primary

General Assemblyman James C. Brice won the Republican nomination for a third term in the primary election Tuesday, in the first district, polling 2,803 votes. His nearest opponent, Alderman L. Claude Manz, polled 2,423 votes and James J. Dennis 695.

This race was an interesting one with only a narrow margin separating the two leading candidates for several hours in the early returns. Mr. Brice made his largest gains in the first, fifth and eighth wards and with these wards in the result was no longer in doubt.

McCullough Nominee

In the second district, the county outside the city, William H. McCullough, of North Beaver township, won the Republican nomination with 2,929 votes to 1,966 for William McGillicuddy, of Ellwood City. Mr. McGillicuddy received a heavy proportion of the vote.

KEARNS APPEARS TO BE NOMINEE

Former New Castle Man Leads In Congress Primary In Mercer-Crawford-Erie District

Upon the face of the unofficial returns in the Mercer-Crawford-Erie congressional district, Carroll D. Kearns, former New Castle man who is now superintendent of the Farrell public schools is apparently nominated for congress upon the Republican ticket. With 256 of the 276 precincts in the district reported Kearns has 11,309 votes, the present incumbent, Congressman R. L. Hodges of Erie has 9855 votes and Chester Zerbe of Erie, has 5032 votes.

Mr. Kearns is a son of the late P. H. Kearns of North Beaver street. He is a graduate of the New Castle high school and later attended school in Chicago. For a time he was engaged in concert work and in industrial work in Chicago.

Returning to western Pennsylvania he was made supervisor of music for the Greenville, Pa. schools and later went to Slippery Rock State Teachers' College where he was engaged in the same work. Several years ago he was made superintendent of the Farrell public schools.

Soviets Postpone Troop Movements

LONDON, May 22.—(INS)—Reuters quoted the Prague newspaper "Lidova Demokracie" today as stating that at the request of the Czechoslovak government, Russia has postponed movements of Soviet troops across Czechoslovakia until May 27.

Radio Munich reported the Czechs had protested such movements toward Russian-occupied Germany as tending to cause "some influence" in the elections scheduled for May 26.

Soft Coal Mines Are Taken Over By Government

Seizure Made Today On Order Issued By President Late Tuesday

KRUG IS NAMED AS ADMINISTRATOR

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—John L. Lewis appeared likely today to delay until the last dramatic moment any commitment on whether his 400,000 soft coal miners will continue working in government-operated mines beyond Saturday.

Coal Mines Administrator J. A. Krug scheduled a second conference with the UMW president today to seek an answer to this question and to explore the negotiation of a contract with the union which will insure the nation against further interruptions in its fuel supply.

The Interior Secretary admitted that the veteran labor leader gave no sign in his initial talk that he would have an answer ready today on whether the miners would stay on the job for Uncle Sam.

Government Seizes Mines

With negotiations between Lewis and bituminous operators hopelessly deadlocked and the current two-week strike truce expiring at midnight Saturday, the government took possession of the country's more than 4,000 mines at midnight last night.

Under Krug's orders each mining company present was pressed into service as "operating manager for the United States" and the American flag was run up at 2,655 mines employing 241,551 men and producing 1,657,670 tons of coal daily.

Another 1,879 mines, employing 116,125 workers and located mostly in the West, were taken over.

New Advances In North China

Communist Troops Are Reported As Advancing Toward Tsinan

SHANGHAI, May 22.—(INS)—New Chinese Communist advances in North China were reported today while in Manchuria, Nationalist troops held positions some 35 miles south of Changchun.

In North China, the Red troops reportedly advanced to points within eleven miles of Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province and were gradually tightening a ring around the city. Communists were said to be especially strong in areas east, north and south of Tsinan.

Northward in Hopei Province, the Central News Agency reported that Communists stormed and captured Antse, midway between the cities of Peiping and Tientsin.

One hundred thousand Communists employing heavy artillery reportedly massed in eastern Jehol Province with the aim of advancing on Chinchow in southern Manchuria.

Nationalist forces, however, with seizure of Peipao blocked use of the railroad by Communists in their offensive.

Farther northward in Manchuria, an estimated 130,000 Communists were reported massing along fortified Princess Ridge to block the Nationalist drive toward Changchun, thirty-five miles to the north.

Seventh Ward Precincts First

First And Second Precincts Of Ward Report Some Returns Few Minutes After Polls Close

We would like to say definitely whether the first or second precinct of the seventh ward was in first with returns Tuesday night but there would be an argument and after all night vigil with election returns, arguments are something we can get along nicely without.

At 9:07 the first precinct reported partial returns to The News. A few minutes later the second precinct reported, but explained there had been difficulty in getting a line through and the member reporting had been held up.

Call it a photo finish if you will, or a good fast draw. What we call it is mighty good election service and both boards are to be congratulated. But then those two precincts in the seventh ward are always in early.

TOUR STATE HIGHWAYS

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—(INS)—Over a score of engineers from Latin America, China and India continued their inspection of the Pennsylvania highway system after being told by leading road builders to profit by America's planning errors in building its vast road network.

The group was in the United States for a year's study of the proposed 2,600-mile tour of the East and midwestern states in Pittsburgh yesterday.

Mr. Duff polled 5684 votes as against 4445 for John L. Shroyer of Shamokin, former secretary of highways in Governor Martin's cabinet. Carl E. Mau, self-styled "GI candidate" of Marcus Hook, polled 458 votes. The total vote is less than 40 per cent of the registered Republican vote.

Martin Leads Field

Start Censoring Troop Locations High Officer Says

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—A high-ranking army officer revealed today that the war department has started to "black out" public disclosure of the disposition of United States troops.

The officer gave national security as the reason for secrecy on the whereabouts of soldiers or their division identifications in other countries.

It was explained that under the order which has been in effect for several weeks the war department is enabled to "classify" or ban information on the location of American soldiers in Germany, France, England, Japan and other places.

The officer emphasized the planned "black out" on detailed information about troops overseas was not aimed at any single country. He said that it was done as a general, precautionary measure in the interest of national security.

Jap Cabinet Takes Office

Third Postwar Cabinet Of Japan Sworn In At Ceremony At Imperial Palace

TOKYO, May 22.—(INS)—Japan's third postwar cabinet formally took office today in a ceremony at the imperial palace with Emperor Hirohito presiding.

In his first official statement, Premier Shigeru Yoshida said he had been unable to get the support of Japanese Socialists in forming his cabinet and declared that the government's most important mission was the solution of the food problem.

Yoshida was forced to make two substitutions in the personnel of his cabinet in order to gain the approval of General MacArthur.

Get Allied Approval

Swearing in of another appointee, Ryu Saito, was delayed until allied headquarters gave its "tentative" approval. Saito was sworn in as a minister without portfolio in a separate ceremony after other cabinet officers took the oath.

In his initial statement, Yoshida also told his ministers that the government must strive to solve its own problems before asking the assistance of allied headquarters.

Yoshida succeeds Baron Kijuro Shidehara, who was named a minister without portfolio in the new cabinet. Shidehara and his cabinet resigned a month ago but remained in office while attempts were made to form a new government.

Mediators Work For Agreement To Halt Rail Strike

Government Mediators Seek To Halt Renewal Of Strike On Thursday

CONFERENCES ARE BEING SPEEDED

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—A. F. Whitney, president of the Railway Trainmen, said today the unions' "final proposal" for settlement of the rail strike has been submitted to Dr. John R. Steelman, White House labor adviser.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—Government mediators worked against time today for a break in the railway wage dispute before the postponed strike of engineers and trainmen is launched at 4 p. m. tomorrow on federal-operated lines.

Another round of conferences was in sight for Dr. John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, who has shuttled between brotherhood bargainers and carriers' representatives trimming his compromise wage proposals to suit both sides.

Steelman's efforts thus far were crowned only by an announcement by Charles G. Ross, presidential secretary, that "no conclusive results" have been obtained. Steelman has reported his progress in mediation to Ross for the information of President Truman.

Works Between Headquarters

The president's labor expert worked between the headquarters of A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and Alvaney Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Often he lifted a telephone at the separate sessions to check a point with the faction with which he is not sitting at the moment.

The same strategy was expected to be followed today. Both sides gave indications of keeping mum on (Continued on Page Two)

Travers Named As Committeeman

In the one contest in the Democratic primary on Tuesday, May 21, James A. Travers, state committeeman from Lawrence county defeated Thomas George who opposed him for the post.

Mr. Travers polled 1218 votes to 830 for Mr. George. In the case of state and county committeemen the office is filled at the primary and not at the general election. Hence Mr. Travers is assured of another two year term.

Two More Infants Of War Brides Are Reported Stricken

Remove Two Babies From New York-Pittsburgh Train, Suffer From Diarrhea

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—(INS)—The infants of two war brides were in Pittsburgh hospitals today suffering from a mysterious malady contracted while en route to this country from Europe.

Hospital attaches said the stricken babies were Vivian Smith, five-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith of Burbank, Calif., and Jacques Pierre Herter, seven months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Herter, of Somerset, Pa.

The mothers said the babies, who were suffering from bad cases of diarrhea aboard the S. S. Brazil, became so violently ill aboard a train from New York City that Red Cross officials had them taken off in Pittsburgh and rushed to a hospital.

In New York the Army was investigating the deaths of three infants and strange illness of 16 others stricken aboard the transport Zaven Vance, which arrived from Havre yesterday.

communication from Teheran to the effect that all Red troops had left Iran on May 6 as promised.

Council President Alexander Padri called the council to order at 11:05 a. m. E. D. T.

At the outset of the council session a communication from Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala was read to the delegates.

Ala reported that an official delegation had surveyed the rebellious Northern Province of Azerbaijan and had found "no trace whatever of Soviet troops, equipment or means of transport."

This was designed to clear up the situation in Iran. Premier Ahmad Ghavam, Propaganda Minister Prince Mozaffar Pirouz and Ambassador Ala almost daily have been making conflicting statements on events within Iranian borders.

Stettinius however took the floor immediately and asserted that the council again defer action on the Iranian case.

When Steelman emerged from one session with the brotherhoods he declined to discuss details of the wage compromise he was advancing. Nevertheless he said it would be safe to assume that he was dealing with a wage increase between the $1.28 a day figure recommended by the president's fact-finding board and accepted by the railroads, and the $1.44 a day now asked by the brotherhoods.

Separate Session Plan

Reconversion Director Snyder meanwhile was said to be concentrating on the carrier end of the negotiations entirely while Steelman dealt with the brotherhoods and carriers in their separate sessions.

Observers attached no particular significance to the fact that the separate sessions have continued thus far in the negotiations without another get-together of the brotherhoods and carriers.

This procedure was said to follow the usual style of railway wage negotiations in which federal mediators figure and was not considered extraordinary by either faction.

Both Whitney and Johnston retained their optimistic viewpoints that a settlement would be reached. They have maintained this since Mr. Truman asked for a postponement of the rail strike set originally for last Saturday at 4 p. m. and summoned them back to Washington for reopening of negotiations.

Mr. McCullough, a son of former county commissioner Thomas J. McCullough, is the supervisor of music for the North Beaver township schools and is the Ponomo Grange master of Lawrence county.

Democratic Nominees

In the Democratic primary there was no opposition in either district. In the first district Arsen Armand is the nominee and in the second district Clyde M. Buzard.

The vote, as anticipated was light. The Republicans voted about 39 per cent of the registered strength and the Democrats about 20 per cent. The total vote for the county was about 30 per cent.

for U. S. senator, successfully blocked an insurgent group's attempt to overturn organization candidates for governor and secretary of internal affairs. The governor defeated Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, Pittsburgh housewife, in the state's first major post war election.

Mau Is Behind

Ex-Staff Sgt. Carl E. Mau, of Marcus Hook, who made the GOP gubernatorial race a three-cornered affair, ran far behind Shroyer.

Incumbent Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Lavenood, Jr., of Somerset, captured the nomination for a third term by defeating Shroyer's running mate, J. Calvin Frank, of Harrisburg. Frank, a former city councilman, failed to carry his home precinct.

Shroyer and Frank, who waged an intensive two months long campaign to break the regular organization control in the state, had the backing of William G. Harman, Philadelphia industrialist and former president of the old Associated Walkie Clubs of Pennsylvania.

Democratic Contests Small

In the only contest in the Democratic primary, Henry A. Morris, of Mahanoy City, made an unsuccessful bid for the gubernatorial nomination against Col. John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, who carried organization endorsement. Rice topped Morris better than four to one.

Nominated without opposition were U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, who will seek a third term in the November 5 general election; Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent, of Jeannette, for lieutenant governor; and former Marine Sgt. Al Schmid, blind Philadelphia Marine hero, to oppose Lavenood.

Incomplete returns indicated fewer than 40 per cent of the 4,378,373 voters eligible to participate in the primary exercised their franchise. Inclement weather plus political apathy was credited for the light turnout.

British Wife Of Actor David Niven Dies From Fall At Home Of Tyrone Power

HOLLYWOOD, May 22.—(INS)—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Mrs. David Niven, fatally injured in a fall at screen star Tyrone Power's home.

Mrs. Niven's blonde wife, the former Primula Rolla, died in St. John's hospital, Santa Monica, after plunging 20 feet down a cellar stairway Sunday night while participating in a parlor game with other guests, including many movie personalities.

A WAAF officer in her native Britain during the war, Mrs. Niven had arrived in the United States only six weeks ago with her two children, David J., 3, and James Graham, 6 months.

She was rushed to the hospital after preliminary examination by a physician at Powers' home, and at first was believed recovering, late Monday night, however, she took a turn for the worse and Niven, a British colonel during the war, was called to her bedside. She died early yesterday.

his opponent, J. Calvin Frank of Harrisburg, a running mate of John U. Shroyer, polled 3588 votes, two to one.

She was re-elected state committeewoman by the Republicans.

Attorney General Duff ran consistently throughout the county, although Mr. Shroyer polled a larger vote than had been anticipated. It had been conceded that Mr. Duff would carry the county but it was thought his margin of victory would be larger in this county.

Easy For Democrats

In the Democratic primaries there was no opposition to the candidates filed, save for not even nominal opposition to U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey. Senator Guffey carried practically all the votes.

For governor, John S. Rice received all the votes, for lieutenant governor, John H. Dent; for secretary of internal affairs, Albert Schmid.

in Pennsylvania, were involved in the seizure but still were closed. The miners did not comply with Lewis' decree to produce coal for essential activities.

Confer After Seizure

Krug and Vice Admiral Ben Moreell, deputy coal mines administrator, conferred separately with Lewis and coal operators for more than four hours and a half after seizure order was issued, seeking their cooperation during the period of federal operation of the mines.

Lewis took "under consideration" a government request that he keep the mine workers on the job beyond the strike week.

Krug said the UMW president "made it quite clear that under the Smith-Connally act the union itself has no alternative but to stay out of the affairs of the mine workers and allow each individual to make his own decisions."

Feeding Frustration

Some persons go on "food benders" for relief from emotional frustration in the same way that others engage in alcoholic bouts, according to Dr. Louis H. Twyeffort, a Philadelphia psychiatrist.

Excessive eating, with consequent excessive weight, often can be traced to an emotional disorder. Dr. Twyeffort told a clinic session of the American College of Physicians. To show that such cases of extreme overweight may erroneously be diagnosed as due to a glandular disorder, he cited the case of a youth in his twenties who weighed 442 pounds as a result of excessive eating and who told the doctor: "All my life I have hidden my troubles behind a plate of food. If I had taken to alcohol instead I would have been dead long ago." That latter statement might be difficult to prove.

Dr. Twyeffort recalled that the youth on one occasion had gone on a four-hour spree at an all-night restaurant after he had fallen out with his girl friend. Under psychiatric treatment, the youthful poly-poly was enabled to cope with his emotional problems and "no longer had to regress off to the more primitive ways of seeking sensory satisfaction." Taking off 100 pounds, the lad "subsequently made an excellent record in the Merchant Marine." Dr. Twyeffort reported.

This story casts a new light on the popularity of all-night restaurants and stirs speculation, too, about the possible number of frustrated patrons in a crowded roadside diner. Here, if anywhere, persons eat as if starved, yet it may be they are only love-starved. Does a train of hamburgers, dripping with ketchup, go further in making a man forget the pangs of unrequited love than a succession of brandies?

Middle age, too, requires its compensations either in frustration or resignation, and the solace of eating seems to be fairly standard. But resultant overweight only adds to the burden and sense of futility. But in the months ahead adequate emotional relief will no longer be acquirable in this gustatory manner, judging from the daily bulletins on the food outlook.

Science And Fishes

Fishermen who have passed the loveliest part of their lives sitting on creek banks wondering whether a fish is about to take their bait may soon find their idle non-biting moments made a bit more complex. Science in its eager quest for efficiency is exploring the possibilities of locating fish with sonar apparatus, the gadget by which the Navy detected submarines.

The San Francisco Sardine Association has a sonar-equipped boat, which is now chugging about trying to detect sardines. This, of course, presents a problem, for no one knows just how a sardine sounds, although it has been discovered that squid make low fuzzy noises, shrimp crackle and crabs chirp.

Commercial fishermen may view this development as the beginning of a great new era but one dreads to think of its consequences in the ranks of solitary, one-pole fishers. One of the great pleasures of fishing is sitting, but with sonar one might feel obliged to charge up and down the creek until he found where fish were, thus not wasting his time where they weren't.

An Izaak Walton with headphones and batteries strapped to his bent back might catch fish, but he'd be an alien figure in a familiar scene. Fishing wouldn't be much fun without the uncertainty—and, besides, that sonar dingus might start broadcasting in the middle of a nap.

Staggering Statistics

"Breath-taking" is a mild way of describing statistics on fire losses in the United States.

During the last decade, 100,000 persons have been burned to death, 170,000 burned and disfigured, and $3,000,000,000 worth of property destroyed. Records show the annual fire loss in the United States exceeds the damage done to England in the two years of the German blitz. Forest fires annually destroy an area equal to all New England. The Coconut Grove fire in Boston caused more deaths than the armed forces suffered in the invasion of North Africa.

There are 650,000 building fires every year. Three-hundred-thirty-thousand of them occur in dwellings, and 46,000 in apartments and rooming houses. Manufacturing plants, motor vehicles, stores and shops, garages and filling stations, hotels and hospitals contribute the remaining 274,000 fires.

In the home the commonest cause of fire is smoking in bed or leaving a lighted cigarette some place where it might ignite inflammable material. Also, placing oily and dirty rags in wooden closets or on shelves, and storing papers for an indefinite period adjacent to wooden walls or floors, are other frequent causes. Rags and papers generate heat if left undisturbed for a long time, and ignite spontaneously. Carelessness with electric wiring is a chapter in itself.

Common sense caution can be the greatest preventer of fire. Until more of it is used by more individuals, America's fire loss statistics will continue to be something that only astronomers can really appreciate.

The New Boats

Many a boat owner who sold his craft during gasoline rationing and who now feels the urge to get out on the water again must be unhappy these days. If he has gone no further than to make a few casual inquiries he has discovered that boats, old or new, are scarce and high in price.

But though the problem of getting a boat is far from simple, the process of looking around has certain compensations. Some strange and wonderful changes have come to the products of the builders since the years before the war and, on the whole, they are to the good.

For example, canoes are being built of aluminum as well as wood and canvas. Rowboats are coming in magnesium. There are also collapsible canoes made of plastic, top-o-car boats of plastic, and even an outboard runabout of plastic. There is a molded plywood dinghy and all kinds of small boats are made of plywood shells.

Larger boats tend to be constructed of the more traditional materials, chiefly wood, but plywood is being used by builders to an ever-increasing extent. It seems likely that this innovation of a few years ago has not reached its limits and that light metals and plastics are only beginning their invasion of the industry.

However that may be, there is no question that the boat builders are as confident of selling their wares as they ever were in the years before the war. They are turning out craft for all kinds of purposes, some not even thought of a few years ago, in the certainty that there will be a demand for boats powered by paddles, oars, sails or engines.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Able Men Hard To Get For Public Office

WASHINGTON, May 22.—One of President Truman's recurring complaints is that he finds it more and more difficult to recruit able men for public office. Boom-time prosperity is luring them into private business.

Younger men have left the government in droves. One goal is the law industry here in Washington. It is fast becoming nothing less than "an industry," with office space so scarce that houses are being remodeled and suites of offices rented even before the plaster is dry.

One of the recent recruits to the law industry is Abe Fortas, who was Undersecretary of the Interior for nearly four years. A few days after he left the Department of the Interior to join partnership with trust-buster Thurman Arnold, Fortas accepted $12,000 retainer to represent the government of Puerto Rico in this country.

A press release issued by the office of Puerto Rico's Governor Rexford G. Tulwell—declared that Fortas would represent his important new client "in all future proceedings before the United States Supreme Court, the United States Circuit Court in Boston and Agencies of the federal government." This announcement touched off a dispute which may affect the entire law industry in Washington.

It so happens that Puerto Rican legal matters in this country have been ably handled by the Department of the Interior and the Department of Justice at no cost to the government of Puerto Rico. In the past three years, 18 cases have been briefed and argued by Justice and Interior. Of the cases in which decisions have been rendered, only one was lost.

Heretofore, Solicitor General W. Gardner of the Interior Department was considerably surprised by the announcement of Fortas' retention. Gardner promptly called on Tulwell to explain just what the relationship was.

In the course of his letter to Tulwell, he quoted at length from a letter that Fortas had written less than a year before on this very same subject. Because it has so much bearing on the whole question of the propriety of those who leave the government to take cases in which they have had a previous interest, the Fortas letter is worth quoting.

"I believe," said Fortas when, as Undersecretary in charge of territorial affairs, he wrote to Tulwell to protest against that same kind of arrangement, "that continuing representation of a government or a governmental agency by private attorneys is unsound and unwise. I know that, from time to time, governmental agencies must and should retain private counsel on specific matters in order to assist government counsel. But except for such specialized assistance, governments and governmental agencies should, in my opinion, be represented by lawyers who are public officials. In my opinion, it is neither seemly nor appropriate for governmental agencies to be represented by counsel who are not regularly constituted public officials."

Fortas went on to say that such a relationship "is apt to lead to embarrassment, regardless of the unimpeachable character of the private attorneys who might be concerned." "In the event," he said, "that the private lawyers obtained law business from private sources which involved dealing with the government, it is obvious that the situation would be embarrassing for both the lawyers and the government."

That was good counsel. The interweaving of private and public business is dubious. No matter how good the intentions, the public customarily gets the best of the bargain.

When New Dealers, such as Fortas, leave the government, they do not mean to surrender their convictions or their objectives. They are convinced that they can help the cause of liberalism and at the same time make more money than the government can pay them.

The prototype, of course, is Thomas G. Corcoran, who was so close to the New Deal and President Roosevelt. Leaving the government, he went into a private law office and his fabulous fees are part of the Washington legend. His old friends in the government gave invaluable aid.

The Washington law industry is taking on an oppressive size. While ex-New Dealers flourish the really big money goes to the old established firms, some of which have opened branch offices here. A dozen openings before Congress would increase the legal barriers that the government must face in doing its job. That means more fees and the public finally foots the bill.

THE NOTE AND THE BEAM
So easy to say what another should do.

The faults of another so plain!
I think when the blunders I've made
I review
I shall never play critic again.

So easy to sneer and to say:
"What a fool!"
When tempted my neighbor proves weak;
But I think when I've carelessly broken a rule
No censure of others I'll speak.

I can see very quickly that note in the eye
Of stranger or friend when we meet.
But remembering how subject to folly am I
No phrases of scorn I'll repeat.

Louis and Conn are reported in fine fettle for June 19th. This is one scheduled fight in which everyone hopes there will not be a cooling off period.

Mr. Truman is back with another master's degree but he still is short of a mastery solution for strikes.

The president says he wishes the country would listen to his admonitions to "work" work work. He should know the country is listening to louder voices shouting "fight! fight! fight!"

The current fear is that Congress will produce not too late and too little but too late and too much.

The right to strike has been so well established that perhaps all we need now is a little emphasis on the necessity to work.

Since that incident in Detroit where a man was picketed for painting his own house, we draw the shades when we practice on the piano. How do we know Petrillo won't run in a professional to play the scales at scale?

Anyhow the PAC is getting up its lists of legislators who "must go." Voters will find it very helpful. Friend and foe will know exactly which way to vote.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Why did 9000 New York kids run away from home last year, and why does the number of runaway children increase every year all over the country?

Capt. John J. Cronin, head of the Missing Persons Bureau of the New York Police department, certainly ought to know the answer. "Distaste for school is one of the major reasons," he says. "The bright student can keep the pace, but the mediocre or poor student is unable to absorb the barrage of curricular details."

He compares the present school program with the purchaser in the black market, who to get a steak, has to buy "tripe, bologna, and a lot of other things he doesn't want. Unhappy homes constitute another important reason."

"Many of the kids are more like refugees than members of a home," he says, "and it is no wonder that they run away from those unpleasant surroundings."

May is always the highest month for disappearances. It's the spring of the warm weather that brings out the wanderlust in youngsters, the captain thinks. "That's when the spirit of adventure calls and when they look for the excitement that's just around the corner."

In the office next to mine I just heard a little whine. The fellow who occupies the office brought a 37-day-old pup with him to give to a friend. And just as I got up to leave and stomach and eyes came toddling into my room, sniffing the chair legs and the wastebasket and my hand, and finally lay down at my feet and went to sleep. That, too, was wonderful.

I have talked to a lot of fellows

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Time we did some tall thinking and taller acting on this Food Collection for the folks in other lands. Really folks we can afford to help them. . . not only can you and you afford to give cash so that large amounts of items can be purchased in lot but we can afford to give of canned foods.

If you could go over the countries that are hurting for food you would not hesitate a moment. . . words are OK pictures in the newspapers and magazines and newscasts carry a message. . . But there is nothing like seeing the victims with your own eyes. This of course is not possible. . . you just have to take the word now of those who have seen. There are hundreds of chaps around now who have seen the nations that are hungry. They will tell you how most of them gave of the last crumb of bread to make our armed forces happy. . . In France, no matter what you think of the people now. . . did when our forces first went through, give all of their stocks if any of the lads even looked like they wanted to eat. . . or drink.

How the peoples of foreign lands now feel about we Americans is greatly due to the way some of them were treated by some of our armed men. Some Americans acted very wrongly when away from these shores. They stole, they drank to excess and treated some of the people very meanly. . . and when the people were tired of such treatment they reacted like you and you would do. . . so the soldier, sailor and marine boys. . . yes, the air corps too. . . came home and said the — with 'em.

No we can't be Americans and continue to feel that way. . . we have more than any other nation in the world. . . we developed ourselves by being friendly. . . words are OK pictures in the newspapers and magazines and newscasts carry a message. . . But there is nothing like seeing the victims with your own eyes. This of course is not possible. . . you just have to take the word now of those who have seen. There are hundreds of chaps around now who have seen the nations that are hungry. They will tell you how most of them gave of the last crumb of bread to make our armed forces happy. . . In France, no matter what you think of the people now. . . did when our forces first went through, give all of their stocks if any of the lads even looked like they wanted to eat. . . or drink.

The World and the Mud Puddles

A SORRY SITUATION

What is the Mugsituation?

Back in the eighties, that is what a Republican was called in the Blaine-Cleveland campaign who asserted he was going to vote for Cleveland, because he was "the best man." Women did not vote then, so men.

Today we have men running for office calling themselves Republicans but registering also on the Democratic Ticket. In fact, it has gotten to be quite a habit for both Democrats and Republicans, where the law permits it, to register as both a Democrat and a Republican.

A Mugsituation has been described as the big little man who knows so much that he leaves his Party and votes for "the man" and the word Mugsituation is applied to that man who seeks to run on both the Republican and Democratic Ticket. He is seeking office, having no clear understanding of policy about anything whatever—foreign, domestic, economic, financial, social, moral or religious and that man is just a fair example of the men who are called upon to vote for in general elections.

You are supposed to be a Republican, or maybe you are a Democrat; if so, why? It would be enlightening to know in an election year just what you are voting for this year. Some of you are loyal, faithful Democrats. Some of you are the same kind of Republicans.

We have formed the habit of rooting and tooting for our party candidates because we like to see our side win. When we enter the voting booth we grab the stamp and slap a cross opposite the name of the men of our party. That is, we do if we are loyal to our party and it stands for, if anything.

Now I am beginning to feel that we regulators are suckers. Not for standing by our party, but because the candidates themselves seldom know as much of anything, except that they think is the best way to get the most votes.

When candidates for State legislature, Governorships, Congress and the United States Senate, all of which are partisan offices, enter the Primaries by filing on both tickets, it is a confession that they are soliciting votes from all sources and not because they are exponents of any political or partisan principles.

The candidates are not altogether to blame, because technically it is legal for them to do so. They may even be honest, upright and capable men, fully intending to do a good job as they see it, I elected.

But what is the inevitable result of such an inconsistent system? It is the death blow to the two-party system which is the life-blood of Democracy. It is when a country goes one-party as in Russia, Germany, Italy, Spain and a few other places, that Democracy goes out the window, and autocracy in one form or another takes over. The people are then subjects, not citizens, and no longer have a voice in public affairs, or how their country should be run.

What is the logic, common sense or consistency in a Republican entering a Democratic Primary or vice versa? What does it make of the candidate? Answer: A thorough Mugsituation. He doesn't represent any political principle and he is accountable to nobody. He may be a gentleman and a scholar and worthy of all acceptance, but that doesn't make him good enough to do as he pleases in fastening on us how you and I shall live—not in a free man's country.

We have been experiencing a one-party government in this country for the past ten or twelve years. At least Herbert Hoover, former President, says so, and he usually has the knowledge and information to fortify his statements.

It became so securely fastened on us that they even recommended ignoring some of the finer provisions of the Constitution, notifying Congress not to be too sure about passing laws that might look unconstitutional. The Supreme Court was created to determine the constitutionality of laws, not Congress. That is the legal and proper function of the Supreme Court. That is the reason the Supreme Court Justices are appointed for life. They don't have to be elected so are not under the thumbs of whimsical voters. Likewise it takes a strong man to resist the force of a far political job or even to refuse money for working or growing things.

And this inspired the lamented and distinguished Democrat, Al Smith of New York, one time to remark: "You can't beat Santa Claus." But Mr. Smith was so steeped in party loyalty that he said he would "take a walk" that year and not vote at all.

As it stands today both political parties, Democrat and Republican, are blown to smithereens. Neither of them has the intestinal fortitude to stand where it stands on any governmental issue. They have not only lost control of government, but they have lost the respect and confidence of the people. So we are governed and controlled by pressure groups—Labor, Farm bloc, School Lobbies, City Bosses, just plain crackpots, and the multitude of political hacks who claim to control a few votes. Neither party is big enough, brave enough or sincere enough to tell these groups to go jump in the lake.

Republican or Democrat candidates filing for office first sit down and count the noses of the faithful ones they are sure of getting by reason of party loyalty, then they go shopping and make deals with the pressure groups for their support.

They sell their souls and sometimes their country's welfare for victory while we "regulars" sit in the shade fanning ourselves and wonder what is going to happen to us. That my fellow-regulars, whether Democratic or Republican, is why we are suckers.

Mugsituations are in the saddle. They get there by selling us down the river, and it's time for us to shake a leg and get a hump on us to make a few bucks and tighter strait-jackets.

Our country is in a serious predicament today. We are in debt more than the country is worth. Mil-

Major Parties Battle Over Large Negro Vote
Veterans Housing Program Will Move Slowly
Meat Production Being Stifled By Government

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Republican and Democratic politics are waging a bitter tug-of-war for the Negro vote, which many think will prove decisive in middle ground territory. They are said to realize that a top-heavy majority can decide the fate of many congressional contests this fall and will play an even bigger role in 1948.

Republican National Committee Chairman Carroll Reece is directing Republican strategy to coax the Negro back into his normal party, the GOP. Coming from a district known as the "Republican Island" in a Democratic state, Reece has always stood against racial discrimination at home and in the House, where he has denounced the southern poll taxes on the Democratic side.

Reece has to overcome the popularity achieved by President Roosevelt among the Negro voters. The late president won scores of thousands away from the Republican party. But Reece feels that Mr. Truman does not carry the same sympathy, despite his fight for the FEPC. Moreover, the present chief executive has been unable to handle the southern filibusters against Negro legislation.

Working against Reece and his colleagues, however, the PAC-CIO who are expected to emphasize Democratic accomplishments in the Negroes' favor while the candidate deserves it.

Building Materials Scarce
Housing experts don't look for any speedy fulfillment of the program calling for 2,700,000 homes for veterans in the next two years, despite House restoration of the $400,000,000 subsidy provision to encourage speed.

Reason: Output of critical building materials—bricks, bathtubs, asphalt board, etc.—is far behind schedule. Almost six months have passed this year, and experts believe that it will take an undetermined time to fill the pipelines.

Brig. Gen. Carlos Romulo, Philippines resident commissioner in Washington, is rumored to be considering an offer from President-Elect Manuel Roxas to be the first Philippine ambassador to the United States.

Romulo's lectures and writings are appreciated by all parties in the Philippines because they have done much to create understanding for the islands in the United States. They were a factor in gaining independence. With independence on next July 4, Romulo's present job, which permits him to participate in House debate and to offer bills but not to vote, will come to an end. He is popular in Washington.

Government Criticized

Farm leaders say privately that the government is adopting a long range policy of stifling meat production in years to come by channeling grain into export for feeding abroad rather than into livestock feeding at home. Without criticizing the policy, they argue that more food for the starving can only add up to less meat on the market at home.

They are convinced that the government plans to force reductions in livestock numbers during the next three or four years. Some agricultural leaders think the reduction may amount to 15 or 20 per cent in beef cattle and 10 to 15 per cent for hogs.

General opinion in Washington, expressed by farm officials, is that the United States will be in the business of relief feeding for many months to come in order to meet its commitments abroad.

Grain, the easiest food to ship to starving countries, is the chief item of export under the relief program. They concede that the result is bound to be reflected in a reduction of 200 to 300 calories every day. Meat demand is expected to go well above pre-war consumption.

What People Say

LIBERTY MO.—President Truman: "What we need now, more than captains and quartermasters, are people who are willing to work for those things which they claim that they are for."

WASHINGTON.—Former President Herbert Hoover calls for a new international food administration: "The world must quit charity as a means of food distribution. I cannot too strongly emphasize that charitable distribution is highly wasteful and inefficient."

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes: "We must not forget that if we fail to cooperate in a peace which is indivisible we may again find that we will have to cooperate in a war of world-wide dimensions."

ATLANTIC CITY.—Mrs. Julia Y. Talmadge, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution: "I call upon DAR members to strike at Communists, Pacifists, Fascists and Radicals who are seeking to destroy the foundations of our liberty."

BACON & EGGS

Bacon and eggs seem to make a popular combination.

They provide protein and fat and minerals in a very palatable form. They supply a generous amount of vitamins too. They count up pretty fast on calories. Most people need over 2000 calories every day. An egg provides about 100 calories. An ounce, or about 4 slices of bacon, add 150 calories.

It would probably be better if fat people did not eat bacon and egg yolk. Fat people eat more than they need. They have a good appetite and the extra nourishment is stored up in the body in the form of fat.

A person who is burdened with fat is in danger.

The State Police Say:

Even skillful and conscientious drivers often overlook one simple night-driving precaution. No, the how many times you go around a curve where vision is obstructed or over the top of a hill and find your self looking right into the full glare of another car's headlights. It's like looking down the business end of a double-barreled shotgun. Isn't it?

Maybe you haven't always considered that you ought to watch for the glow that tips you off another car is coming around the curve or over the hill, and lower your lights before meeting the full glare of the lights of the other car.

Navy Funds Are Given Increase

House Committee Increases Appropriations For U. S. Navy Tuesday

TOTAL FUND NOW NEAR FIVE BILLION

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—The House appropriations committee on Tuesday increase Navy Department appropriations to provide for 291 major combat ships in the post-war active fleet and to maintain a naval air force of about 8,400 planes.

The committee approved a total navy appropriation of four billion, 639 million 659 thousand dollars for 1947.

This is an increase of 375 million dollars over that recommended by the Budget Bureau.

The increase will provide for the combat ships and planes. The navy originally asked for five billion dollars.

Stepped Up Reserve

Much of the increase in funds over Budget Bureau estimates will provide for a stepped up program of training for the naval reserve, and to establish greater research operations.

The appropriations committee provided 134 million dollars for an augmented program of reserve training for both navy and marine corps.

With this fund, it was the committee's intention to supply manpower required to increase the active fleet from a 70 per cent peacetime operating complement to a 100 per cent wartime basis, and to furnish the required number of pilots and other aviation personnel for the air phase of naval operation.

Train 58,999 Additional

The fund will permit the training of 58,999 additional men and 3,000 additional officers in the organized reserve.

The navy originally planned for an active post-war fleet of 319 major combat vessels, with 73 in the reserve fleet and 687 in the inactive fleet. In addition it contemplated maintaining 4,000 fleet planes, 4,000 operating planes, and 4,000 spare planes. Nearly all of the vessels were to be drawn from the newer ships of the huge wartime fleet.

Under the Budget Bureau plan, which was adopted by the committee and augmented by the increased training and research program, the navy will operate 291 major combat ships in the active fleet, 42 in the reserve fleet, and 632 in the inactive class.

Over 3,500 Auxiliary Ships. Some 3,500 ships of auxiliary types are also provided for the active and reserve fleet. Funds are provided by today's action for the maintenance of 3,000 fleet planes, 3,000 operating planes, and 2,400 spare planes.

The committee's action contemplated starting the 1947 fiscal year with 950,000 enlisted men and 105,000 officers, gradually reducing to a total of 437,000 enlisted men and 57,800 officers at the year's end.

A women's reserve of 5,500 WAVES on active duty is contemplated.

Research and development for the navy received 250 million dollars. In granting this sum, the committee report stated: "It is not enough that we keep abreast of the times in these matters; we must be ahead of it. This can be done only by providing means whereby, through channels of research, we are enabled to steal a march on all other nations devoting themselves to like improvements and progress."

Marine Station Closes Saturday

S. Sgt. John P. Bodnar, in charge of U. S. Marine Corps recruiting in the city, announced today that Saturday will be the last day for applications in New Castle.

Effective that date, the Marines will have finished a three-week campaign here and will return to Pittsburgh for further assignment.

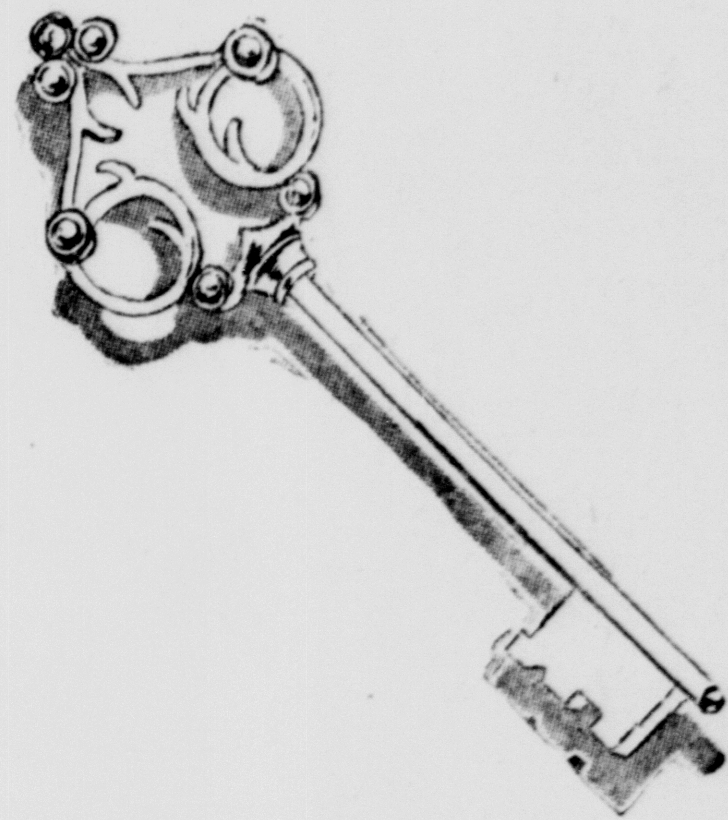

During the next few days young men between the ages of 17 to 25 may enlist in the corps for two, three or four years. Education need not be interrupted, as studies can be continued through the Marine Corps Institute. Applicants may select their duty in the corps and are entitled to a 10-day furlough at the completion of their "boot" training.

Johanson-Powell Class

Members of the Johanson-Powell class of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, motored to the home of Clyde Bookamer, D. No. 5, Tuesday evening for their monthly meeting.

The early part of the evening was spent in an old-fashioned soft ball game, after which the group gathered around a bonfire where a short devotional service directed by the class president, Glenn Duncan, was conducted. Mr. Duncan introduced Mr. Bookamer, who brought a short meditation to the boys.

At the conclusion of the devotional service, the group indulged in hot dogs, cake and coffee served by the refreshment committee.

New Food Plan Of Hoover Gets Some Support

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—UNRRA Director Fiorella LaGuardia agreed with Herbert Hoover Tuesday that a new, broad United Nations food administration should be set up, but warned that such an organization could not be created by Sept. 1.

Hoover recommended that a new international food agency be created to absorb the activities of UNRRA, the combined food board and other relief agencies by Sept. 1.

LaGuardia, however, told delegates to the United Nations food and agricultural conference that there wasn't machinery available to terminate UNRRA by the date suggested by the former president.

While he agreed with Hoover on the basic need for a new food organization, LaGuardia expressed sharp disagreement with Hoover on several points which the latter advocated in urging establishment of the new agency.

Should Be Permanent
LaGuardia maintained that a new world food organization should be permanent instead of operating only during a period of food scarcity as suggested by Hoover. The UNRPA director said:

"Nothing less than a permanent organization will save us from trouble."

LaGuardia also disagreed with Hoover's proposal that a new food administration return food, fertilizer and farm supply business to normal commerce. The UNRRA director declared "the old system hasn't worked."

But he was emphatic that a new world food organization is necessary. He declared:

"If out of this conference the world receives a definite, workable concrete plan of operation for an internationally controlled supervision of food production and distribution, the United Nations Security Council will be able to spend most of its time on the golf links of Long Island."

GIRL LIKES OLDER BOYS
Today's mail yields this query re: "Is it all right for a girl of 17 to go with boys 21 and 22? I like them much better. Younger boys act silly."—Phyllis.

Here is a perfectly normal appraisal of boys. This girl of 17, the remainder of whose letter proves that she is normal, is just as mature as the boys she prefers, if they are normal.

Phyllis, if the boys who "go for you" are four or five years older, there is no reason why you must shun their attentions, provided they are honorable.

Although the sexes usually find congeniality of ideas in their own particular age group, a great many young girls are more mature than the boys of their own years. This slight difference between 17 and 22 is negligible. If you find these boys more interesting, go to it and accept their dates.

Personally, I have observed that age makes very little difference in matters of the heart. I know two women who are very happily married—one to a man 20 years her senior and the other to a man 10 years her junior. It depends very much upon the temperament of the woman. If she is a quiet, serious girl, she might be happy with a man older than she. A frivolous butterfly who must have constant excitement will naturally tend toward youthful companionship.

These, perhaps, are exceptional cases, but they prove that happiness can exist even when there is a discrepancy in years.

Question: If the bride has two sisters and intends to have only one attendant—a maid of honor—is it imperative that she choose one of her sisters, rather than a very good friend?

Answer: No. She may choose whomever she pleases.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

tions of people throughout the world are expecting us to keep them from starving. Other nations expect us to loan them billions of dollars that we haven't got. Communistic theories have wormed their way into Organized Labor and are fomenting strikes with the avowed purpose of overthrowing the government. We are threatened with food shortage and you can hardly buy a shirt, and no materials for building homes or business houses. And worst of all, we are on the verge of another war, fostered and agitated by those self-same Communists. Either that or take water.

Here we are, by reasoning the richest, most powerful, most capable and most resourceful nation on the face of the earth about to compromise with evil which would mean the end of us, when a little search and backbone applied in the right place would quickly take the wind out of the bully's sails.

And what are we doing?
The Mugwumps are tip-toeing around in circles, studying election charts, fiddling while Rome burns. What do we do?

Two strong political parties, each to say what it means, and mean what it says. When we vote today we are voting for a pig in a poke.

RACKET CLEANUP ON IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—(INS)—The drive to clean up Pittsburgh's rackets, indirectly blamed for the four gangland deaths in the past four months, continued today but only two known "big shots" plus a number of small-time numbers operators have been taken into custody.

Mayor David L. Lawrence told newsmen that the drive has only started.

"I don't want to judge," he said, "until the police have had a chance to do something."

Britain Expects Indian Government To Sustain Itself

NEW DELHI, May 22.—(INS)—Britain notified the Indian Chamber of Princes today that whatever permanent autonomous or independent government is established in India will be expected to stand on its own feet.

In a memorandum presented to the chamber's chancellor by the British cabinet mission, his majesty's government announced its determination to retain supremacy over any interim government set up in conformity with the commission's proposal for a federated India.

Once the permanent regime is established, however, the London authorities will terminate military and political interference with India. The British memorandum declared:

"The British government could not, and will not under any circumstances, transfer paramountcy to an Indian government during the interim period before independence. When a new and fully self-governing or independent government came into being in British India, his majesty's government's influence with these governments will not be such as to enable them to carry out the obligation of paramountcy."

"Moreover, they cannot contemplate that British troops would be retained in India for this purpose."

Shenango Firemen Plan Open Meeting For Whole Township

Seeking to increase the interest of Shenango township residents in the work of the volunteer fire department, the department has called an open meeting for Friday evening at 8 o'clock, in the East New Castle fire hall.

The volunteers are hoping that each district in the township—including Sheep Hill, the Butler road, Castlewood, Gardner and Clifton flats—will be present, along with road supervisors, the ladies auxiliary, a representative from the New Castle fire department, and anyone else who is interested in attending, according to Walter Waddington, president of the volunteers.

Along with increasing the numbers of volunteers, the department is hoping to develop greater cooperation among the residents in reporting fires immediately to the department and in supporting it in its activities.

Another project which the group hopes to carry out is the canvassing of the township for the purpose of making up a township directory in which all residents will be listed, Mr. Waddington said.

OPA To Settle Atlantic City Butter Mystery

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 22.—(INS)—Atlantic City police put out a hurry-up call for OPA agents to help them unravel the mystery surrounding 5500 pounds of butter, which no one seems to want to claim.

It all started when an Atlantic City merchant reported he had been approached with an offer of some black market butter.

Police stopped a truck to question its driver—and found close to three tons of butter hidden beneath some chicken crates.

The truckdriver—Samuel Furman—of Fontaine street near Thirty-second—Philadelphia—said he did not know where it came from. Neither did Furman's helper—Herbert Finkel—of French street near Thirty-second.

Police held them both pending the arrival of the OPA agents.

Pepper Concedes Defeat In Fight On Labor Action

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—Sen. Pepper (D) Fla., conceded defeat today in his running fight to prevent Senate passage of restrictive labor legislation.

Pepper said in an interview that he was ready to see the Senate vote today on his substitute for the Byrd amendment, the first test, and added:

"The Senate in its present mood, will pass all of the pending amendments striking at the rights of labor. They'll do this and regret it later."

To Reject Pepper's Bill

Leaders on both sides of the aisle forecast an overwhelming rejection of Pepper's substitute, which would require that all employers engaged in interstate commerce set up health and welfare funds for their workers. The Senate then was expected to move rapidly to vote on the amendment of Sen. Byrd (D) Va.—designed to prevent employee benefit plans from being used as "union slush funds". Aimed at UMW President John L. Lewis' proposed health fund for miners, the amendment requires that such funds be organized on a "trust" basis, with management and labor equally sharing control.

Following the vote on the Byrd amendment, Senate Majority Leader Barkley planned again to seek a limitation of debate on the other pending proposals. Barkley was blocked twice in a similar move Tuesday by objections from Sen. Morse (R) Ore.

Resents Fascist Brand By Enemies

LONDON, May 22.—(INS)—The London Daily Herald reported today that Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, commander of the Polish army in exile, termed as "idiotic" charges that he stands for fascism.

The newspaper said Anders resented being labelled a fascist, and quoted him as saying:

"This is idiotic. We demand nothing but a really democratic Poland to which we would all gladly return immediately."

Anders is in England to arrange transfer of his troops for demobilization.

Holy Name Society Has Social Event

Boxing Bouts Featured As Special Entertainment Of Society's First Meeting

The Catholic Center was filled to capacity last evening when the Holy Name society of St. Mary's held their first social meeting since their re-organization which took place at the Cathedral May 12.

The meeting, presided over by President John J. Maher, was opened by Rev. Fr. Francis P. King, spiritual director, who gave the invocation. Nomination for permanent officers was held and the general election will take place at the next meeting.

Social part of the evening's entertainment was under the direction of William P. Howley who was assisted by Ambrose S. Ryan and Cleus H. Martin. Mr. Howley presented the "Two Black Crows" who later turned out to be Edward Sheridan and William Nelson.

George Chip then took over and gave the crowd a howling success in the nature of a boxing show. Mr. Chip refereed four fast bouts in which members of the Jefferson A. C. did themselves proud. Little Joe Rodz tangled with Joe Mangine and the crowd is still trying to figure out who was the better man. The second bout featured Emil Grauso who opposed Willie Carban. Both of these boys gave a fine showing and at the same time showed promise. The third bout brought out Len Matarazzo who did a good job with his opponent Ross Baxter who was brought here from Columbus and who represented the Columbus Club. Baxter still showed the form he recently displayed in Madison Square Garden and his swiftness and timing gave the audience a real treat. Baxter at the end of the third round was in such good shape that he re-appeared for the fourth bout and took as his opponent Gus Elisco another boy from the Jefferson stables.

After the entertainment the president called attention of the men to the fact that Sunday June 9 was general Holy Communion for the society. The meeting then adjourned with prayer by Father King.

The eatable tubers of the Jerusalem artichoke are produced in tiers of 30 to 50, close about the thick, fleshy root. The plant grows in nearly any well-drained soil.

Clayton Urges Approval Of British Loan

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton on Tuesday urged congressional approval of the three billion, 750 million dollar British loan "because it creates the right climate for the preservation of peace in the world."

Clayton appeared before the House banking committee which is holding hearings on the Senate approved British loan agreement.

He told the committee "the agreement is the keynote in the arch that supports our whole foreign economic policy and it is very difficult to divorce the economic from the political in the world today."

Clayton frankly told the committee that the British agreement of itself could not preserve world peace but he warned:

"The major countries cannot long work together for peace if at the same time they are carrying on the bitterest kind of economic warfare."

Cites Alternative
In this connection, Clayton stated that the alternative to the British loan and the resultant removal of international trade barriers and restrictions, would be bilateral agreements between countries which, in themselves would be restrictive of an expanded world trade.

Clayton told the committee that the British financial agreement gives the United States "very valuable considerations."

He said: "I do not believe that we could very long go in the world in the position of an island of prosperity surrounded by a sea of devastation and prostration caused by the war. It is in our interest to try to correct that situation."

Clayton explained that the economic policy of the United States is to promote and expand world trade and raise the world standard of living for "our own selfish reasons."

He added that this could not be accomplished without cooperation of British Empire countries which do about 50 per cent of world trade.

GO OVER CORN WITH HARROW OR WEEDEE

Much of the early cultivation of corn can be done quickly and satisfactorily by keeping the crust broken with a spike harrow or weeder even after the corn is up.

Late cultivation should be shallow so as to break up few corn roots as possible. Use sweeps, wing shovels or spear points to cut off, rather than dig out, the weeds.

Ridge no more than necessary and use the weeder to knock small weeds out of the row.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on American coins about 1864.

Garden Notes

By Lewis C. Dayton,
County Agent

TREAT LIMA BEAN SEED: DUST WILL CONTROL BEETLES

Treating lima bean seed with Spergon—one-half teaspoon to one pound of seed—will protect the seed from decay organisms in the soil and assure a better stand.

For larger plantings, one-third ounce of the fungicide will treat 10 pounds of seed. Lima bean seed is very susceptible to destructive soil organisms.

Gardeners also will do well to be on guard against flea beetles, tiny black jumping insects which eat small round holes in leaves of garden plants. Only prompt control may prevent complete destruction of the foliage.

Control of flea beetles can be achieved with the use of rotenone dust. Tomato plants should be dusted as soon as they are set in the garden. Other plants can be protected with rotenone in the same way. Sometimes more than one application may be necessary. Rotenone also can be applied as a spray.

Flea beetles sometimes start feeding on seedlings as soon as they are through the ground, and unless the plants are protected with the dust the damage may be complete within a few hours.

Leaves on some plants attacked by the beetles turn brown, or the leaves may wither, but always the plants are weakened.

Better Fitting Of Army Clothes Patterson's Plan

Secretary Of War Says 'Sad Sack'
Soldier Must Become Thing
Of Past

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(INS)—Secretary of War Patterson called in today all army uniforms giving their wearers that "sad sack" appearance.

The War Department announced that under Patterson's personal direction "necessary steps are to be taken to call in the uniforms with a poor fit and to issue more appropriate clothing."

Soldiers will have decided for them whether the drape of their uniforms is a reflection on the clothes-conscious United States army.

Lieut. Gen. Dan I. Sultan, inspector general, has been directed to conduct "spot checks" to insure proper fitting of all uniforms.

In an effort not to repeat past clothing mistakes, the army also is taking steps to guarantee that every recruit "steps out of the reception center as a trim, well-tailored soldier who may well be proud of the clothing he wears."

To Check Sizes
Patterson ordered all commanders to see that in cases of original issue more attention is given to decking servicemen out in the right sizes.

It was pointed out that "when there is no appropriate size in stock, or those sizes in stock do not fit the individual properly, army regulations prescribe that necessary alterations will be made."

At the same time the quartermaster corps is continuing in its long range survey to obtain detailed information from which new methods of testing, standardizing, manufacturing and distributing military wearing apparel may be developed.

Aside from aesthetic considerations, the studies assertedly will permit the quartermaster corps to decrease waste caused by accumulation of unused sizes and uneven wear occasioned by poor-fitting garments.

Meanwhile, plans for outfitting of recruits and enlisted men in blue dress uniforms are in the research stage.

Experimental models of the GI's dress uniform comprise a sack type coat, matching trousers and visored cap in medium weight wool tailored to individual measure.

Officers and enlisted men are scheduled to dress alike after June 30, 1942.

Rich Prospector Not Impressed By Gay Big City Life

NEW YORK, May 22.—(INS)—Ulric J. (Spud) Arsenault, Arctic prospector who struck it rich, was on his way back to Canada's Yellowknife goldfields today, sadly disappointed in New York's gay white way.

Before departing without fulfilling the expectation that he would paint the town red with $1,000 bills, Spud visited one night club. He said he "almost choked on the bad air" and wondered how the girls in the show could "look so healthy" in such an atmosphere.

Spud spent the rest of his time visiting with his sister in New Jersey, inspecting the Bronx zoo and park geological formations—and dodging women who thought he had come to find himself a wife.

He took back with him hundreds of letters from women and learned thousands of letters are awaiting him at Yellowknife. He said he'd look them over at his leisure.

Next winter Spud plans to emerge again from the Arctic for an auto tour of the U. S. but, he added hastily, no one is going to know where or when—he'd had enough of the limelight.

Alert Farmers For Invasion Of Corn Borer Moth

HARRISBURG, May 22.—(INS)—The state agriculture department today alerted Pennsylvania farmers for the first appearance of corn borer moths "after another week of warm weather."

Eggs laid by the moths on corn stalks should be dusted with rotenone to prevent hatching of the destructive borer which cannot be controlled after drilling into the plants, crop observers warned.

The moths were reported three weeks late emerging this year due to the rain.

Last year's crop damage from the pest was estimated at $3,000,000, according to a federal-state survey.

Delaware county farms were hardest hit with 99 out of 100 corn stalks reported infested. Others in which the insect caused considerable damage were Bucks, Berks, Chester, Montgomery and Philadelphia.

STRANGE ILLNESS ON SHIP BEARING SOLDIER FAMILIES

NEW YORK, May 22.—(INS)—The army today investigated the deaths of three infants and strange illness of 16 others aboard the transport Zebulon Vance when it arrived from Havre with 431 children and wives of American servicemen.

The surviving sick babies, three in critical condition, were rushed to the Fort Hamilton army hospital where autopsies were performed on the three dead infants and feeding formulas while they were aboard ship were tested.

It was believed the outbreak occurred during the last few days at sea.

New Anesthesia For Childbirth Lauded By Doctor

ATLANTIC CITY, May 22.—(INS)—New methods of caudal-anesthesia, use of which makes childbirth painless, were lauded today by Dr. John C. Hirst, assistant professor of obstetrics at the University of Pennsylvania.

Speaking before a special session on obstetrics and gynecology of the 180th annual meeting of the Medical Society of New Jersey, Dr. Hirst reported on the experience of the Philadelphia lying-in hospital where more than 3,000 women have already been delivered under the caudal-anesthesia. He declared: "The new methods, represent a novel physical and psychological concept in the management of childbirth."

He said the method consists in injecting a pain-killing drug into the lower spine which not only relieves pain but also has among other advantages, the lessened chance of strain on the heart and reduced frequency of respiratory complications.

Dr. Hirst pointed out that 95 per cent of all childbirths could be managed with caudal-anesthesia.

Slaughter Quota Has Failed To Cure Meat Black Market

CHICAGO, May 22.—(INS)—The American Meat Institute charged today that the OPA slaughter quota has failed to cure the black market, and that legitimate meat packers still cannot compete with illegal operators.

The Institute issued a statement declaring: "Figures for the week ending May 18 show that ten companies normally supplying beef for millions of consumers throughout the United States were able to buy within OPA compliance ranges only 51,732 head of cattle. This is about 12 per cent below the 57,607 they were able to purchase the week before."

"During the same week of last year, these companies purchased 157,335 head. Beef production of these companies during the week ending May 18, was 55 per cent below their production in the same week of last year, and 67 per cent of production in the same week in 1941."

The Institute asserted the figures show there has been no real solving of the black market in meat, as most of the beef is going to operators buying outside the OPA compliance range.

Nation Awaits Response Of Coal Miners To Order

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—(INS)—The nation waited tensely today for the first response of some 400,000 striking coal miners to President Truman's executive order seizing the country's soft coal mines and calling upon the men to go back to work.

There was a strong possibility that many Pennsylvania miners, who have refused to work under the two-week truce, will not go back to work in the federally seized pits, union leaders indicated.

UMW District Three President Frank Hughes of Greensburg, Pa., said that miners would be working under the truce which expires Saturday, adding: "Pickets have upset any good we can do. Our hands are tied. The whole thing is up to the government."

In Central Pennsylvania's rich bituminous coal regions union leaders declared their members would not go back to work. They pointed to the traditional "no contract-no work" policy.

The citation was signed by General deGaulle, provisional president of the French republic, and reads: "for exceptional service in the war in the course of operations which liberated France."

In addition to this decoration, Capt. McFarland was also awarded the bronze star for outstanding heroism under fire in the rescue of his own wounded.

Capt. McFarland is now serving at Ft. Meade, Md., in charge of the Post Exchange.

Wisconsin Plans Water Rationing

MILWAUKEE, May 22.—(INS)—Rationing of water in Wisconsin as a means of conserving coal supplies was planned today by the Wisconsin Public Service commission.

Superintendent Herbert H. Brown of the municipally-owned Milwaukee works, said the state commission has ordered curtailment of water service upon notice that the electric supply will be cut when the coal stockpiles fall below a 21-day supply.

Watch What You Mail; Uncle Sam Is Watching You

Many Citizens Attempt To Violate Stringent Postal Regulations Daily

THEY ARE LIABLE TO PRISON TERM

Trying to keep folks from sending through the mail what they shouldn't is a real task for Uncle Sam's postal workers. Postmaster William R. Hanna reports. Every day, folks risk Federal incarceration just because they refuse to abide by the rules laid down by the Post Office Department.

One of the worst offenses is in using the mails to advertise bingo games and lotteries. Many institutions which are circumspect in every other way, feel that they should be exempted from the provisions laid down by the department in this respect. This applies even to parties where door prizes are awarded.

It is not necessary to mention the forbidden words to violate the law. If you advertise a "special party" and it turns out to be a bingo party, the letter is unmailable. You can be given two years in prison for just dropping such a letter in the mail box.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again. Get Carter's Pills at any drug store—25¢. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Recapture GI's Who Fled Prison

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., May 22.—(INS)—Two American soldiers who attempted to escape from a military prison were under heavy guard today following their recapture by combined U. S. and British forces.

The GI's, both privates, were John Trevino, 22, under a 25-year sentence at hard labor for robbery, and Charles Larkin, who is awaiting court martial on charges of grand larceny. Their home addresses were not revealed.

The men escaped during an exercise period at Southampton's civil center. They overpowered a guard, grabbed his rifle and ammunition, and occupied a rooftop area of the center's bombed-out section.

Trevino was wounded before recapture by a shot fired by an American MP.
